Product keys are needed to install Autodesk products and are used to differentiate products sold separately and as part of a set of products. For example, installing AutoCAD 2014 as an individual product requires a 001F1 product key, but AutoCAD 2014 requires a 781F1 product key to install AutoCAD 2014. Both software packages find the same version of AutoCAD, but the product key distinguishes one package from the other. Please note that you are using the appropriate product key for the Autodesk product and the version you are installing. If you enter the wrong product key, there will be activation errors for this product.
